CONSERVATION BOARD ORDER IS CHALLENGED

Model Oil Defies Ruling Reducing Allowable Daily Output

CALGARY, Oct. 27.—A challenge to the Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board came from Model Oil Limited of Calgary today.

W. C. Fisher, managing director, announced the company would not comply with the board's latest order reducing the allowable daily production of crude oil to 11,500 barrels in Turner Valley.

Model Oil Limited operates two wells in the valley field and Model-Spencer-Newton No. 1 and Model-Spencer-Newton No. 2. It is an independent marketing company.

"We are ready to face any prosecution the board cares to launch," Mr. Fisher declared. He charged the conservation board with not for conservation but confiscation and expropriation.

OPERATE AT MAXIMUM
"We will continue to operate at possible maximum efficiency despite orders of the board," he added.

W. F. Knode, chairman of the conservation board, had not time to make when told of Mr. Fisher's statement.

Under the board's order, effective tomorrow, Model's No. 1 well is classified as a gas well and is permitted to produce, and crude oil Model No. 2 is given a daily crude oil quota of 187 barrels.

CLASSED AS GASSEY
Any well requiring 30,000 or more cubic feet of gas to lift a barrel of oil to the surface is classified as a gas well by the board.

Model No. 2 is given a daily crude oil quota of 187 barrels, or 30,000 cubic feet of gas, be claimed.

Radway Farmer's Son Alleged to Have Fired Wife At His Sweetheart

Portrait to Edmonton Bulletin (THURSDAY) Oct. 27.—Kearney when she spurned his offer of marriage by the girl's father, Radway farmer, alleged to have fired his wife at his sweetheart, Violet, Thariel, daughter of a district farmer, shooting at her at close range with an old-fashioned pistol, Monday.

The first shot went wide, and before he could fire a second he was overpowered by the girl's father and brother.

Miss Thariel and her assistant had been keeping company for several years, but in February last the lady effected a divorce from her husband. Sunday Night visited her at her new home and offered to marry her.

GAMBLER WITH LOVE
Nelson told the girl he "had grown tired of the girl's father and brother."

On Monday afternoon he appeared at the Thariel home and after a short conversation with his father-in-law, he drew a pistol and shot at her.

He was overpowered by the girl's father and brother, who were standing nearby. There were several eye-witnesses to the shooting.

WANTS SHOOT SELF
The father and son arrested the man from Nelson and said guard over him. While waiting for the police to arrive, the father and son were told by the girl's father that he would kill himself.

He was committed for trial at the court house here, to be held by Magistrate D. Macdonald, at a preliminary hearing at Thursday.

COUNTRY FACES ANOTHER CRASH PREMIER AVERS

Prophecies Slump Will Occur in 1940-41 Unless Help Comes

Roast is being made by financial barons "that with their power they can win the election on Nov. 17." Premier William Abernethy, in addressing a public meeting at the Grand Hall, 111 street on Wednesday evening, the Premier declared that the money powers claimed their power would win the coming election even as they had "used their power against the policies of the provincial government."

The Premier, with Hon. Ernest C. Manning, minister of trade and industry, addressed the meeting in explanation of operation of the treasury branch of the government and the operation of the government's financial program.

FINANCIAL CRASH
Referring to finance the Premier also declared that "we are going to face in 1940-41 the greatest crash we have ever had, unless action comes to the rescue in the meantime."

Turning his attention to the interim program, which includes the establishment of the treasury branches, the Premier said that these formed the beginning, as the program was planned.

Sponsored by the Social Credit group and led by W. R. Armstrong, in the chair, the meeting was attended by fully 500 persons.

During the presentation of the first speaker, Mr. Manning declared with the progress of the governments and progress of the country, office up until the treasury branch was established.

Pleasure at being present to talk to his "troupe" was expressed by Premier Abernethy. "This is a real war," he declared, "the sense of bloodshed, but for the people's rights."

Intensive determination was required on the part of the government in carrying out its policies. If obstacles were placed in the way of its taking the necessary steps, another route was followed and was followed day and night.

Without boasting or gloating, he said that the province of Alberta has done more for its people than any other province and has outdone old line party governments."

ATTACKS SYSTEM
He attacked the financial system and contended that he had fought it and that "we are going to curb it." He submitted that "the people of Alberta must be in the place where they must not be in."

He was amazed to realize the manner in which lawyers and other professional people allowed things to drift on under the existing financial system. "I am sure," he said, "that this system which was destroying the people and a system which my government sought to overthrow."

He wondered why they said, "Put it in the Alberta constitution." Continuing, he said that "I am convinced that you will not let them put us out under any circumstances."

Turning his attention to operation of the treasury branches, he said that the operation of the non-negotiable treasury vouchers issued by the government, he contended his business to purchase Alberta-made goods or he suggested "a credit system of buying Alberta-made goods, even known in the province" should be carried out. "In the near future there would be published a list of business stores willing to accept treasury vouchers."

PURCHASING POWER
He pointed out various ways in which the new interim program would increase purchasing power and he stressed the necessity of people making full use of their credit. In respect to the three per cent bonus when one-third of a person's purchases, computed monthly, were Alberta-made goods, he said that this could not be obtained if purchases were made through a merchant who had not signed the merchants' agreement to co-operate with the government in operating the interim program.

Mr. Manning stressed the content of the "old" financial system has outworn its usefulness. Efforts of the province to become financially independent were emphasized by Mr. Manning, who recalled that the government had reduced by 50 per cent the interest rate on Alberta bonds.

He recalled that "we consistently maintained that we have no heart for tyranny," he said. "And if there is any party which can lead us through these dangerous times and help to keep the kind of democratic government we desire, that party is the Liberal party."

Considering her remarks she pointed out that the women of Canada had a duty to perform and in the interim of the coming they should realize this and take an active part in the public affairs of the Dominion. She noted the tendency, noted in many parts of Canada today, to place sectionalism before nationalism.

Chairman of the meeting was J. Miller, of Winnipeg, secretary of the Japer-Edon Constituency Liberal Association.

Has No Apologies Knight Declares
"I don't have to explain or apologize for my qualifications as a candidate for election in the Japer-Edon constituency," Arthur Allan Knight told the meeting at the convention Wednesday afternoon.

Later, after he had been selected and endorsed by the Alberta Liberal Association.

Roosevelt Told Of Value His Appeals Were During War Crisis

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Viscount Halifax, British foreign secretary, in a speech broadcast to the United States last night, asked for American co-operation with Great Britain in establishing world peace.

He spoke of the crisis last night over Czechoslovakia and President Roosevelt's contribution in appeals for peace in Chamberlain's speech and President Edward Benes of Czechoslovakia, a contribution which he said was as valuable as it was welcome.

His speech was a part of the New York Herald Tribune's Forum.

LITTLE DIFFERENCE
Referring to the United States neutral legislation, he said, "we do not question the motives which inspired your neutrality legislation but we note that you followed with acute interest the events in Europe there is little real difference in the attitude of the average man and woman in Britain and America regarding the turbulent currents sweeping Europe."

Pointing to the already close association between the two peoples, the foreign secretary said, "we have a mutual desire for true peace based upon justice, that law and not force shall rule the world."

"The only foundation for such peace is understanding, and the only way to such understanding is for nations who share the same ideal to be prepared to think together."

HEAVY RESPONSIBILITY
He continued, "For countries like us, the responsibility is heavy. It is not only the responsibility of the past but of the future, and it is a responsibility which we must all share."

Whither the Jew? World Wonders as Italy Tightens Barriers

Premier Mussolini ... tightens race barriers.

Tel Aviv, Palestine—even here Jews are troubled with Arab clashes.

The Jew ... where will he go?

Whither the Jew? His problem is a big one. Oppressed in all lands, driven out of one country after another, even now being terrorized in the Holyland by the Arabs—the Jew today is a forlorn figure, unable to find a home. Italy is the latest to clamp down on its race barriers, sponsoring a severe program for dealing with Jews. The Fascist Grand Council has approved the program, which affects 70,000 Jews. In Czechoslovakia it is expected that a program against the Jews will be launched very shortly by Chancellor Hitler and his cabinet and again the Jew will be forced to resume his wandering in search of a home.

Arab Terrorism In Holyland...

And How British Are Handling It

TO CRUSH the revolt of Arabs against British rule in Palestine, Great Britain has mustered a force of 20,000 men, aided by every instrument of mechanized warfare. In the photo at top, British soldiers with a machine gun are shown on guard in Bethlehem. The town has been raided frequently by guerrilla bands of Arabs, and these forces stand by while others search the houses for suspected Arab sympathizers. When caught, the rebels are interned in machine-gun guarded, barbed-wire fenced concentration camps like that at St. John of Acre, shown in the rare picture below.

New Czar

Grand Duke Vladimir, son, and heir of the late Grand Duke Cyril of Russia, shown leaving the American hospital in Paris, following the death of his father, who was pretender to the vanished throne of the Romanoffs in Russia. With the death of Cyril, the mantle falls to Vladimir, who is now hailed as "czar" by the exiled Russian court residing in Paris.

Air Safety Device Proves Successful

Operating on a radio-sonar device that shoots earthwards, the newly developed radio-sonar system is being tested in aviation testing as one of the finest aviation safety factors yet discovered. The device of the new device airplane pilots are kept informed of their height over the ground, buildings, bridges and mountains that happen to be directly below them in comparison to the standard altimeter now being used, which gives only the height above sea level. Prior C. B. Harrison, superintendent of United Aircraft communications laboratory, is shown, left, explaining the new safety device to Pilot Captain R. H. Little. The pilot will read the footage of the sonar oscillator as the instrument shown, right.

Clothed

SALLY RAND, premiere fan and burlesque dancer, surrendered to a Los Angeles court after a month's seclusion was issued for her arrest when she failed to appear for trial on an assault and battery charge growing out of a row in a cinema. When photographers asked Sally to pose with a policeman she stamped her foot and shouted "Nasty!" She is pictured here as she appeared in court.

Doing All Right

Bomb Blanks Cameraman's Mind

These two pictures of a demonstration bombing attack at Chattanooga, Tenn., were snapped within a few seconds of each other but the cameramen remembers taking only the first one. Photographer William Davis of the Chattanooga News, snapped the picture, left above, of Major Al Williams firing the large building, quickly changed plates for the next "shot." Davis got the picture of Major Williams' direct hit, right, but he doesn't remember taking it. When the bomb exploded something snapped in his head. When his brain cleared, Davis found he had made the picture, pulled the plate holder from the camera and walked out cracks in a mad scramble to safety.

High Fall Nets Laugh

Still not quite able to believe the miracle is Mrs. Mary Balogh of New York, pictured looking for Humboldt on Michael, who will probably go home life dubbed "Lucky Mike." The baby was playing on a bed in his home on the top floor of an apartment house. He played through an open shut or level, with the bed and fell seven stories to the ground. Mrs. Balogh's husband doesn't like to pick up, as she feared, his crushed and bleeding body. She got there in time to see him rise without a scratch and a walk over to her. "Lucky Mike" and his mother are shown after the accident, when total damage, thanks to a picture of a child who broke the baby's fall, were strata on his head and wrist.

Million-Dollar Fire Extinguisher

With a stream of water reaching 300 feet into the air from her 25-foot water tower and jets from her eight other towers projecting a powerful, expanding, fire-breathing, New York's new million-dollar fire-fighter, the Fire-Fighter, is shown above on trial exercises in the Hudson River. Most powerful fireboat in the world, the Fire-Fighter's rate, specially built 16-cylinder Diesel engine was pump 30,000 gallons of water a minute with 100 pounds a square inch pressure at each nozzle and speed her along at 18 to 17 knots.
